

Hands on Training on Management of Literature Survey And Generating References

Dr. Nilaj N. Deshmukh

While carrying out any project and research activity, literature survey is very important. As a part of literature survey, required to read many journal paper, conference paper, thesis etc. Now a days all the contents are available in digital form and hence managing with different tool is essential. Learning a new tool for effective management will reduce pressure of researcher and they can focus on actual technical work rather than management of literature and reference formatting. The work carried out as a part of project activity or research activity, required to compile in the form of report or paper. While preparing report or paper, citations and corresponding bibliography of earlier work required to include. In this workshop, hands on training will be provided, so that each individual will effectively able to manage literatures and able to generate references.
